Notice of Data Security Incident

Maintaining the privacy and security of personal information is of the utmost importance to Cummins & White, LLP. We are notifying individuals of a data security incident that may have resulted in the exposure of certain data stored on our network.

On or about December 3, 2025, we became aware of unauthorized activity in our network environment. Upon learning of the issue, we immediately took steps to contain the incident, including restricting network access and commencing a prompt and thorough investigation with the assistance of external cybersecurity professionals experienced in handling these types of incidents. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor had gained access to our network between approximately November 28, 2025, and December 5, 2025. Following that determination, we conducted a thorough and comprehensive review of the impacted systems and data to assess the scope of the incident and identify the individuals and information that may have been affected. On June 8, 2026, we determined that personal information and material client confidential information may have been accessed or acquired during the period of unauthorized access. We do not have direct evidence that any specific information was accessed or acquired. As such, we are not able to say whether any particular individual or client was impacted. We are providing this notice out of an abundance of caution to all individuals and clients whose personal information and/or material client confidential information may have been on our network. The type of information may include full names along with Social Security numbers, driver's license numbers, medical and/or health insurance information, financial account numbers, and/or information provided or generated in connection with legal matters, such as intellectual property, due diligence documents, case strategy, deal documents, discovery, and other similar information.

Potentially impacted individuals are encouraged to take steps to protect themselves, such as placing a fraud alert or security freeze on their credit files, obtaining free credit reports, and remaining vigilant in reviewing financial account statements and credit reports for fraudulent or irregular activity on a regular basis. Individuals who are concerned that their Social Security numbers may have been impacted are eligible for complimentary credit monitoring services. Please contact the dedicated response line referenced below for enrollment information.

We are committed to maintaining the privacy of information in our possession and have taken many precautions to safeguard it. We continually evaluate and modify our practices to enhance the security and privacy of the personal information we maintain.

We have also established a call center to address questions from impacted individuals. Representatives are available at (844) 959-7168. This response line is staffed with professionals familiar with this incident and knowledgeable on what impacted individuals can do to protect against potential misuse of their information. Once you receive your credit reports, review them for discrepancies. Identify any accounts you did not open or inquiries from creditors that you did not authorize. Verify all information is correct. If you have questions or notice incorrect information, contact the credit reporting company.

2. Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File.

You can place an initial 1-year "fraud alert" on your credit files, at no charge. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least twelve months. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you before establishing any accounts in your name. To place a fraud alert, call any one of the three major credit bureaus at the numbers listed below. As soon as one credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, they will notify the others. Additional information is available at https://www.equifax.com/personal/credit-report-services/credit-fraud-alerts/.

3. Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File.

Following is general information about how to request a security freeze from the three credit reporting agencies at no charge. While we believe this information is accurate, you should contact each agency for the most accurate and up-to-date information. A security freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer's credit report without written authorization. However, please be aware that placing a security freeze on your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit, mortgages, employment, housing, or other services. There might be additional information required, and as such, to find out more information, please contact the three nationwide credit reporting agencies (contact information provided below). You may place a security freeze on your credit report by contacting all three nationwide credit reporting companies at the numbers below and following the stated directions or by sending a request in writing, by mail, to all three credit reporting companies:

Equifax Security Freeze P.O. Box 105788 Atlanta, GA 30348-5788 https://www.equifax.com/personal/credit-report-services/credit-freeze/ (888)-298-0045	Experian Security Freeze P.O. Box 9554 Allen, TX 75013 http://experian.com/freeze (888) 397-3742	TransUnion Security Freeze P.O. Box 160 Woodlyn, PA 19094 https://www.transunion.com/credit-freeze (888) 909-8872

In order to place the security freeze, you will need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information. After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting company will send you a confirmation letter containing a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

If your personal information has been used to file a false tax return, to open an account or to attempt to open an account in your name or to commit fraud or other crimes against you, you may file a police report in the city in which you currently reside.

4. Protecting Your Medical Information.

The following practices can provide additional safeguards to protect against medical identity theft.

- Only share your health insurance cards with your health care providers and other family members who are covered under your insurance plan or who help you with your medical care.
- Review your "explanation of benefits statement" which you receive from your health insurance company. Follow up with your insurance company or care provider for any items you do not recognize. If necessary, contact the care provider on the explanation of benefits statement and ask for copies of medical records from the date of the potential access (noted above) to current date.
- Ask your insurance company for a current year-to-date report of all services paid for you as a beneficiary. Follow up with your insurance company or the care provider for any items you do not recognize.

5. Additional Helpful Resources.

Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recommends that you check your credit reports periodically. Checking your credit report periodically can help you spot problems and address them quickly.

If you find suspicious activity on your credit reports or have reason to believe your information is being misused, call your local law enforcement agency and file a police report. Be sure to obtain a copy of the police report, as many creditors will want the information it contains to absolve you of the fraudulent debts.

You may also file a complaint with the FTC by contacting them on the web at www.ftc.gov/idtheft, by phone at 1-877-IDTHEFT (1-877-438-4338), or by mail at Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580. Your complaint will be added to the FTC's Identity Theft Data Clearinghouse, where it will be accessible to law enforcement for their investigations. In addition, you may obtain information from the FTC about fraud alerts and security freezes.
